

CORPORATE RENEWAL

When a business begins showing signs of distress; for instance, a shortage of cash and limited available credit, suppliers demanding expedited payments, or monthly reports reflecting a consistent loss of money, it is imperative that the underlying cause of the distress is quickly addressed and reversed. Often, these signs are as a result of operational or strategic issues within the business that can be identified and resolved with efforts focused on corporate renewal.

Corporate renewal by definition is the process of making changes to a business in order to improve it and make it more successful. Resolute believes that successful corporate renewal and turnaround results are achieved with financial consulting, accurate information, a finely honed strategic plan, and a change of mindset focused on the overall goal.
